Boot Camp 2008

I went to Fort Indiantown Gap in the summer of 2008. I was in bravo company luckily my friend Gonzalez was in the same company so that made my experience a lot better. What we learned in boot camp was everything from putting out a fire to battleship classifications. My experience there was fun but at the same time really tiring. In the classroom everyone had trouble staying awake, because it was boring at times. To be honest I got the best sleep I have ever had. So overall boot camp had its ups and downs but was an experience I will never forget.
